discrepancies, however, with regard to the children's exposure to interparental violence and its impact on child functioning.