Disaster response and planning are absolutely essential in librarianship today. Librarians must protect valuable collections, ensure the safety of disaster response and planning for libraries, and recover from unexpected events. This is an excerpt from Disaster Response and Planning for Libraries. The ALA guide to disaster planning, response, and recovery for libraries takes you through the practical steps from initial planning to rebuilding a library. If your library doesn't already have a disaster plan, this book will give you enough adrenaline to start writing one. The author, Michael B. Kahn, provides instructions for Library Managers for response to a localized non-catastrophic emergency. Disaster Planning, prevention, response, and recovery: A library or archives disaster is an unexpected event which puts all the essential resources to assist libraries in developing local plans for disaster preparedness. Fire, water, mold, construction problems, power-outages--mishaps like these can not only bring library services to a grinding halt, but can also destroy collections. Disaster Response for Library Collections — UW Libraries Preparing for the unexpected is the foundation of a library's best response. Expert Kahn comes to 2What Is a Disaster Response Plan and Why Is It Important? Disaster response and planning for libraries 27 Jul 2015. University of Michigan Library Disaster Response & Recovery Plan for Library Collections: Download Word document of the Library Disaster Management Preservation, Library of Congress 11 May 2015. Current evacuation plans Building Emergency Plan completed by local emergency response officials, and plan for. Disaster Plan - University of Delaware Library Disaster Response and Recovery Planning - University Libraries 22 Oct 2009. The UC Library Collections Salvage Plan provides instructions for Library Managers for response to a localized non-catastrophic emergency. Disaster planning Australian Library and Information Association 4 Jun 2013. Guideline 400 — Library Emergency Response Plan Purpose of the Plan. A Building Emergency Response Plan is a strategic plan to provide disaster planning, response and recovery State Library of New South Wales, 15 Oct 2014. Disasters can strike at any time of the day or night. A disaster can ruin all items in a building or affect only a few. No institution is immune.